

Dear Friends,

Our final preparations are quite advanced and we hope to welcome you in Cuernavaca soon. The conference program can be found in <http://www.cicc.unam.mx/activities/2009/weidenmueller.birthday/program.pdf>.

The best way travel from Mexico City Airport to Cuernavaca is by the direct bus service. Instructions for this bus service can be found on our webpage <http://www.cicc.unam.mx/information.html>. Please take a taxi from the Arrival Station to your final destination.

For those who are lodged in the Posada Tlaltenango. someone from the local organizing committee will be around on Sunday evening (except for late arrivals). On Monday morning we will be around to help you to get a cab or, for the valiant among you, to test the theories and experiments on the Cuernavaca bus system (c.f. J. Phys. A: Math. Gen. 33 No 26 (7 July 2000) L229-L234).

On Wednesday we will have an excursion to Chacaltzingo, a little known Olmec archeological site. It seems to have been a way station for Atlantic to Pacific coasts trade almost 3000 years ago.

On Thursday night we will have a birthday party in honour of HANS A. WEIDENMUELLER on the occasion of his 75th birthday. We will celebrate this in the cave to which we will proceed after the afternoon session on Thursday.
